FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE OF SECRETARY

Dear Senator Gramm:

I am writing this letter to voice a concern I have regarding the implementation and enforcement of Section 19 of the 1992 Cable Act by the Federal Communication Commission.

As a distributor of DBS satellite television programming, equal access to cable and broadcasting programming at fair rates, something which we are not currently receiving is essential for Coleman County Broadcasting Systems to be competitive in our local marketplace.

The attached letters to FCC Chairman Reed Hundt from myself, in addition to Rep. Billy Tauzin and other members of Congress, spell out my concerns on this issue.

It was my impression that Congress had guaranteed equal access to cable and broadcast programming for all distributors with the passage of the 1992 Cable Act. Despite this fact, however, satellite distributors and consumers continue to be treated unfairly by the cable industry.

Some programmers continue to charge unfairly high rates for satellite distributors compared with cable rates. Other programmers, like Time Warner and Viacom have simply refused to sell programming to some distributors. These exclusive practices hurt rural consumers and thwart the effective competition required by Section 19 of Cable Act.

I would greatly appreciate your assistance on behalf of rural consumers in Coleman, Brown, Runnels, Callahan, and Taylor Counties in Texas, in encouraging the FCC to correct this inequity.

Sincerely,

Jerry L. Ellis

RE: Cable Competition Report
CS Docket No. 94-48

RECEIVED
OCT 27 1994
FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

Dear Chairman Hundt:

I am writing this letter in support of the Comments of the National Rural Telecommunications Cooperative (NRTC) in the matter of Implementation of Section 19 of the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992, Annual Assessment of the Status of Competition in the Market for the Delivery of Video Programming, CS Docket No. 94-48.

As a rural telephone member of NRTC and distributor of the DIRECTV™ direct broadcast satellite (DBS) television service, my company is directly involved in bringing satellite television to rural consumers.

However, despite passage of the 1992 Cable Act, my company's ability to compete in our local marketplace is being hampered by our lack of access to programming owned by Time Warner and Viacom.

This programming, which includes some of the most popular cable networks like HBO, Showtime, Cinemax, The Movie Channel, MTV, Nickelodeon and others, is available only to my principal competitor, The United State Satellite Broadcasting Co. (USSB), as a result of an "exclusive" contract signed between USSB and Time Warner/Viacom.

In contrast, none of the programming distribution contracts signed by DIRECTV™ are exclusive in nature, and USSB is free to obtain distribution rights for any of the channels available on DIRECTV.

Mr. Hundt, my organization agrees with the NRTC that these exclusive programming contracts run counter to the intent of the 1992 Cable Act. I believe that the Act prohibits any arrangement that prevents any distributor from gaining access to programming to serve non-cabled rural areas.

Page Two
Cable Competition Report
CS Docket No. 94-48

Under the present circumstance, if one of my DIRECTV subscribers also wishes to receive Time Warner/Viacom product, that subscriber must purchase a second subscription to the USSB service. This hinders effective competition, and as a consequence keeps the price of the Time Warner/Viacom channels unnecessarily high. It also increases consumer confusion at the retail level.

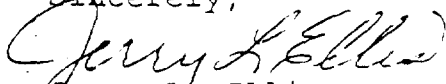

Not having access to the Time Warner/Viacom series has also adversely affected my ability to compete against other sources for television in my area. The first question our customers ask looking over our program list is, we can get HBO & Showtime can't we. We have to tell them No, not from us. This is really upsetting to them and make them want to think it over a little more, because they really wanted HBO.

We believe very strongly that the 1992 Cable Act flatly prohibits any exclusive arrangements that prevent any distributor from gaining access to cable programming to serve rural non-cabled area. That is why we supported the Tauzin Amendment, embodied in Section 19 of the Act.

We ask the FCC to remedy these problems so that the effective competition requirements of Section 19 become a reality in rural America. I strongly urge you to banish the type of exclusionary arrangements represented by the USSB/Time Warner/Viacom deal.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jerry L. Ellis
Manager

The Honorable Reed Hundt
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission
1919 M Street, NW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear Chairman Hundt:

We are writing to ask your help in strengthening the Commission's rulemaking on competition and diversity in video programming distribution.

During the past year a great deal of the energy has necessarily been devoted to the issue of cable rate regulation. Notwithstanding the immediate importance of that issue, many Members of Congress believe that the true answer to improving the video programming distribution marketplace is the promotion of real competition. In the long run we believe that competition — not regulation — will achieve the greatest benefits for consumers and result in greater vitality in the industry. Of the many provisions of the Cable Act that are designed to promote competition, none are more important than Section 19, which instructs the Commission to ensure nondiscriminatory access to cable programming by all distributors.

We strongly believe that section 19 is worthy of your serious and immediate attention. We respectfully request that you reexamine the Commission's First Report and Order implementing section 19 in order to eliminate potential loopholes that would permit the denial of programming to any non-cable distributor.

We wish to call to your attention certain disquieting developments heightening our concern about the FCC's program access regulations. We are troubled by the Primestar consent decrees and the effect they may have on program access. We believe the FCC's program access regulations need to be tightened if the full force and effect of Section 19 of the 1992 Cable Act is to be preserved.

As you may be aware, despite the Commission's well-reasoned brief opposing the entry of the state Primestar decree, the court entered final judgment. Among other things, the state consent decree will permit the vertically integrated cable programmers that own Primestar to enter into exclusive contracts with one direct broadcast satellite (DBS) operator to the exclusion of all other DBS providers at each orbital position. On the other hand, Primestar's ability to obtain all of the programming of its cable owners will be unimpeded by the state consent decree. In its opinion, the court made clear, however, that its ruling was in no way a judgment about the propriety of such exclusive contracts under Section 19 of the Cable Act or the FCC's implementing regulations and specifically left that question open to be decided by the FCC.

In essence, the state consent decree gives Primestar's cable owners the ability to carve up the DBS market to the competitive disadvantage of non-cable owned DBS providers. This is directly contrary to the intent of Congress. In enacting the program access provisions, Congress specifically rejected the existing market structure in which vertically integrated cable companies controlled the distribution of programming. Congress and the FCC recognized that vertically integrated programmers had both the means and the incentives to use their control over program access to discriminate against cables' competitors and to choke off potential competition, even in unserved areas. Moreover, Congress looked to DBS as a primary source of competition to cable, not as a new technology to be captured by the cable industry.

Congress enacted very strong program access provisions and gave the Commission broad authority to regulate against anti-competitive and abusive practices by vertically integrated programmers. Section 628 (b) makes it unlawful for a cable operator or vertically integrated cable programmer "to engage in unfair methods of competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices, the purpose or effect of which is to hinder significantly or to prevent any multichannel video programming distributor" from providing cable or superstation programming to consumers. Section 628 (c) provides the Commission with the authority to promulgate regulations to effectuate the statutory prohibition and delineates their minimum content.

Upon examination of the program access regulations, we have discovered a critical loophole that seems ripe for exploitation by the cable industry and is directly applicable to exclusive contracts between vertically integrated cable programmers and DBS providers. Section 628 (c) (2) (c) of the 1992 Cable Act contains a broad per se prohibition on "practices, understandings, arrangements, and activities, including exclusive contracts for satellite cable programming or satellite broadcast programming between a cable operator and a satellite cable programming vendor or satellite broadcast programming vendor, that prevent a multichannel video programming distributor from obtaining such programming from any satellite cable programming vendor in which a cable operator has an attributable interest" for distribution in non-cabled areas. However, Section 76.1002 (c) (1) of the Commission's new rules covers only those exclusionary practices involving cable operators.

The Commission's rule in its present form is inconsistent with both the plain language of the statute and Congressional intent. The prohibition against all exclusionary practices by vertically integrated programmers in unserved areas is clear. While it certainly includes exclusive contracts between cable operators and vertically integrated programmers, the language of the statute does not limit the prohibition to that one example. The regulations incorrectly turn the illustrative example into the rule.

This loophole must be closed and the program access regulation strengthened on Reconsideration. The Primestar consent decree alone makes it clear that the bare minimum regulation of exclusive contracts is insufficient to guard against anti-competitive practices by vertically integrated cable programmers. The Commission's final regulations should provide, as does the legislation, that all exclusive practices, understandings, arrangements and activities, including (but not limited to) exclusive contracts between vertically integrated video programmers and any multichannel video programming distributor are per se unlawful in non cabled areas. In cabled areas, all such exclusive contracts should be subject to a public interest test with advanced approval required from the Commission.

There is one other vital point to note regarding the Commission's program access rules. It has become evident that the cable industry has been attempting to manipulate the Commission's reconsideration proceeding to obtain an overly broad Commission declaration as to the general propriety of exclusive contracts with non-cable multichannel video programming distributors. Any such pronouncement by the Commission would eviscerate the program access protections of the 1992 Cable Act.

Specifically, in addition to and independent of the explicit exclusive contracting limitations imposed by the Act, exclusive arrangements between vertically integrated programmers and non-cable multichannel video programming distributors (MVPD) in many circumstances also violate Section 628(b)'s general prohibition of "unfair practices" which hinder significantly or prevent any MVPD from obtaining access to cable programming. In addition, they may violate Section 628 (c)(2)(B)'s prohibition against discrimination by a vertically integrated satellite cable programming vendor in the prices, terms and conditions of sale or delivery of satellite cable programming "among or between cable systems, cable operators, or other multichannel video programming distributors." Accordingly, we urge the Commission to be extremely careful in its decision on reconsideration to avoid any ruling or language which could, in any way, limit the protections against discrimination afforded by Sections 628(b) and (c)(2)(B).

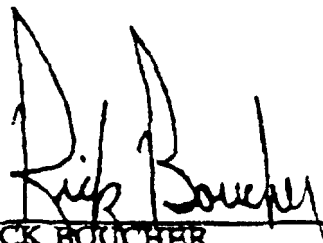

Lastly, Mr. Chairman, it is absolutely essential in overview that the Commission add regulatory "teeth" to its Program Access regulations. In the Program Access decision, the Commission generally declined to award damages as a result of a Program Access violation. Without the threat of damages, however, we see very little incentive for a programmer to comply with the rules. Nor is it practical to expect an aggrieved multichannel video programming distributor to incur the expense and inconvenience of prosecuting a complaint at the Commission without an expectation of an award of damages. There is ample statutory authority for the Commission to order "appropriate remedies" for program access violations, and we urge the Commission to use such authority to impose damages (including attorney fees) in appropriate cases. [See, 47 U.S.C. 548 (e) (i)].

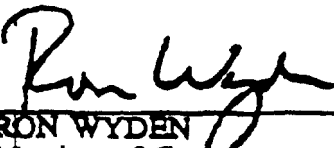

DBS has long been viewed as a strong potential competitor to cable if it were able to obtain programming. In the 1992 Cable Act, Congress acted definitively to remove that barrier to full and fair DBS entry into the multichannel video programming distribution market. We think it is of the utmost importance that there be no loopholes which would allow cable or, in light of recent merger activity, cable-teleco combinations to dominate the DBS marketplace.

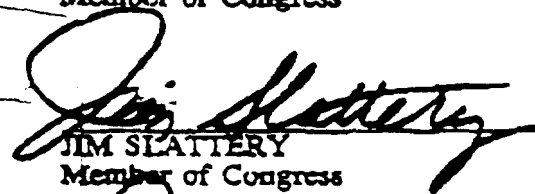

Thank you for your consideration.

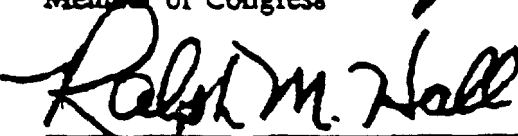

Sincerely,

The Honorable Phil Gramm
United States Senator
2323 Bryan Street, #1500
Dallas, TX 75201

Dear Senator Gramm:

Thank you for your inquiry on behalf of your constituent, Mr. Jerry L. Ellis, Manager of Coleman County Broadcasting Systems, an affiliate of the National Rural Telecommunications Cooperative (NRTC). Mr. Ellis is concerned because as a distributor of the DIRECTV direct broadcast satellite (DBS) television service, his company's ability to compete in his local marketplace is being hampered by the lack of access to programming owned by Time Warner and Viacom. Currently, this programming, which includes cable networks such as HBO, Showtime, The Movie Channel, MTV and others, is available only to Mr. Ellis' competitor United States Satellite Broadcasting, Co. (USSB), as a result of an exclusive contract between USSB and Time Warner and Viacom.

Mr. Ellis also expresses his support for the position of the NRTC concerning the Commission's interpretation of Section 19 of the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992. NRTC has requested that the Commission reexamine the legality of exclusive contracts between vertically integrated cable programmers and DBS providers in areas unserved by cable operators. NRTC has asked that the Commission determine that such contracts are prohibited.

NRTC's petition for reconsideration of the Commission's program access rulemaking proceeding is currently pending. As such, any discussion by Commission personnel concerning this issue outside the context of the rulemaking would be inappropriate. However, you may be assured that the Commission will take into account each of the arguments raised by NRTC and the other parties to the rulemaking concerning this issue to arrive at a reasoned decision on reconsideration.

I trust that this information will prove both informative and helpful.

Sincerely,

Meredith J. Jones
Chief, Cable Services Bureau
